Module 5: HR Development and Retention — Workbook

A Traction Outsourcing Limited HR Training Resource

How to Use This Workbook

This workbook accompanies Module 5: HR Development and Retention and contains 100 exercises organized into three parts. Work through each part in order, or use individual exercises to review a specific section of the module. Exercises are grouped by type, and within each type they follow the same section order as the module.

Type A — Written Response (20 exercises, A1–A20)

Each item presents a question, statement, or workplace scenario drawn from the module. Write your answer in the ruled space provided, or on a separate sheet if you need more room. These exercises have no single correct wording — they are graded by your facilitator against the concepts covered in the module.

Type B — Multiple Choice (40 exercises, B1–B40)

Each item presents a question or scenario with four possible answers (A–D). Mark the box beside the one best answer. Check your work against the Multiple Choice Answer Key at the back of this workbook.

Type C — True/False (40 exercises, C1–C40)

Each item presents a statement drawn from the module. Mark whether the statement is True or False. Check your work against the True/False Answer Key at the back of this workbook.

Exercise Breakdown by Module Section

Module Section	Type A	Type B	Type C	Total
Overview of Development and Retention	3	6	6	15
Applicable Laws and Regulations Related to Training and Development	2	5	5	12
Training Delivery Format	3	6	6	15
Techniques to Evaluate Training Programs	4	7	7	18
Career Development Practices	4	8	8	20
Performance Appraisal Methods and Performance Management Practices	4	8	8	20
Total	20	40	40	100

Part I — Written Response Exercises (A1–A20)

Read each scenario, statement, or question carefully and write your response in the space provided.

Overview of Development and Retention

A1. Explain the difference between Human Resource Development (HRD) and employee retention as defined in the module, and describe how HRD supports retention.

Your response:

A2. List three HRD strategies for employee retention described in the module (for example, training and development programs, coaching and mentoring, career development planning, or feedback and recognition) and explain how one of them boosts retention.

Your response:

A3. Describe the five stages of the ADDIE model and explain what happens during the Development stage.

Your response:

Applicable Laws and Regulations Related to Training and Development

A4. List two of the main legal considerations organizations must account for when conducting training activities across different countries, per the module.

Your response:

A5. Explain why obtaining and maintaining professional credentials matters for both employees and the company, per the module, and describe one way organizations can support employees in doing so.

Your response:

Training Delivery Format

A6. Compare classroom-based training and virtual training, including one advantage and one disadvantage of each, per the module.

Your response:

A7. Explain what blended learning is per the module, and describe one advantage and one disadvantage of it.

Your response:

A8. List the three factors the module recommends considering when choosing a training delivery format, and explain why each one matters.

Your response:

Techniques to Evaluate Training Programs

A9. Explain the four levels of the Kirkpatrick Model for training evaluation.

Your response:

A10. Describe the six levels of the Phillips ROI Model, per the module, and explain what Level 5 (ROI) measures.

Your response:

A11. Compare the Kirkpatrick Model and the Phillips ROI Model using the module's comparison table (their focus and one strength or weakness of each).

Your response:

A12. List the three common training program evaluation techniques described in the module (participants' opinion poll, pre- and post-training tests, and post-training plan), and explain what each one measures.

Your response:

Career Development Practices

A13. Explain the difference between career management and career planning as defined in the module.

Your response:

A14. List the five steps of effective succession planning described in the module.

Your response:

A15. Explain what a dual career ladder is, per the module, and describe one benefit of implementing one.

Your response:

A16. Using the module's practical example of Ahmed and Maha, explain the two different paths for career advancement it illustrates.

Your response:

Performance Appraisal Methods and Performance Management Practices

A17. List the five steps of the performance management process described in the module.

Your response:

A18. Explain the difference between performance management and performance appraisal, per the module's comparison table.

Your response:

A19. Compare two performance appraisal methods described in the module (for example, ranking, rating scales, MBO, or BARS), including one advantage and one disadvantage of each.

Your response:

A20. Explain the halo effect, the horn effect, and recency/precedence error as described in the module, and describe one way to avoid these errors.

Your response:

Part II — Multiple Choice Exercises (B1–B40)

Mark the box beside the one best answer for each item.

Overview of Development and Retention

B1. Per the module, Human Resource Development focuses on:

- ☐ A) Creating a work environment that encourages employees to stay
- ☐ B) Enhancing the skills and knowledge of employees
- ☐ C) Setting compensation levels
- ☐ D) Conducting layoffs

B2. Per the module, which of the following is listed as a key HRD strategy for employee retention?

- ☐ A) Coaching and mentoring programs
- ☐ B) Reducing employee benefits
- ☐ C) Eliminating feedback processes
- ☐ D) Increasing workload without support

B3. Per the module, the ADDIE model stands for Analysis, Design, Development, Implementation, and:

- ☐ A) Engagement
- ☐ B) Evaluation
- ☐ C) Execution
- ☐ D) Enrollment

B4. Per the module, which training method combines instructor-led training and e-learning?

- ☐ A) Simulation
- ☐ B) On-the-Job Training
- ☐ C) Blended Learning
- ☐ D) E-Learning

B5. Per the module's training methods table, a disadvantage of Instructor-Led Training (ILT) is that it:

- ☐ A) Cannot provide immediate feedback
- ☐ B) Can be expensive and may not be deliverable to a large audience
- ☐ C) Is only useful for simple topics
- ☐ D) Requires no trainer

B6. Per the module, which stage of the ADDIE model involves identifying the target audience and its needs?

- ☐ A) Design
- ☐ B) Development
- ☐ C) Analysis
- ☐ D) Implementation

Applicable Laws and Regulations Related to Training and Development

B7. Per the module, which of the following is a legal consideration for international training activities?

- ☐ A) Anti-discrimination laws
- ☐ B) Accessibility for individuals with disabilities
- ☐ C) Occupational safety and health regulations
- ☐ D) All of the above

B8. Per the module, one reason organizations encourage employees to obtain professional credentials is that:

- ☐ A) It qualifies employees with skills following the latest quality standards
- ☐ B) It eliminates the need for performance reviews
- ☐ C) It reduces the organization's tax liability automatically
- ☐ D) It replaces the need for training programs

B9. Per the module, which of the following is listed as a way organizations support employees in obtaining credentials?

- ☐ A) Financial assistance or scholarships
- ☐ B) Partnership with educational institutions
- ☐ C) Recognition and incentives
- ☐ D) All of the above

B10. Per the module's comparison of internal and external training, external training providers typically:

- ☐ A) Have lower initial costs but require more investment in materials
- ☐ B) Have higher initial costs but offer access to specialized expertise
- ☐ C) Cannot be scaled to meet fluctuating training needs
- ☐ D) Offer no quality control procedures

B11. Per the module, internal training generally offers the organization:

- ☐ A) Full control over training content, schedule, and delivery method
- ☐ B) No control over the training process
- ☐ C) Access to entirely new subject matter experts
- ☐ D) Guaranteed lower quality than external training

Training Delivery Format

B12. Per the module, there are three main types of training delivery formats: virtual, on-the-job training, and:

- ☐ A) Classroom-based training
- ☐ B) Mentorship-based training
- ☐ C) Peer-review training
- ☐ D) Compliance-only training

B13. Per the module, a disadvantage of classroom-based training is:

- ☐ A) Limited scalability
- ☐ B) Lack of personal interaction
- ☐ C) No access to resources

- ☐ D) Excessive flexibility

B14. Per the module, an advantage of virtual training is:

- ☐ A) Higher cost than classroom training
- ☐ B) Flexibility to access training from anywhere, at any time
- ☐ C) Guaranteed in-person interaction
- ☐ D) No need for self-discipline

B15. Per the module, on-the-job training involves:

- ☐ A) Learning by doing under the supervision of an experienced colleague or supervisor
- ☐ B) Only online, self-paced modules
- ☐ C) Attending a lecture with no practical component
- ☐ D) Testing employees before hiring

B16. Per the module, which factor is recommended for choosing the appropriate training delivery format?

- ☐ A) Training objectives
- ☐ B) Learner needs
- ☐ C) Available resources
- ☐ D) All of the above

B17. Per the module's practical example, Jonathan Tech and Future Industries ultimately adopted which approach to combine the strengths of their original methods?

- ☐ A) Blended learning
- ☐ B) Simulation-only training
- ☐ C) Mandatory in-person exams
- ☐ D) Outsourced training entirely

Techniques to Evaluate Training Programs

B18. Per the module, the Kirkpatrick Model's four levels are Reaction, Learning, Behavior, and:

- ☐ A) Results
- ☐ B) ROI
- ☐ C) Application
- ☐ D) Inputs

B19. Per the module, the Phillips ROI Model's Level 0 focuses on:

- ☐ A) Business impact
- ☐ B) Inputs — the resources invested in the training program
- ☐ C) Return on investment
- ☐ D) Participant reaction

B20. Per the module's comparison table, the Kirkpatrick Model's main weakness is that it:

- ☐ A) Is too expensive to implement
- ☐ B) Does not directly measure ROI
- ☐ C) Cannot measure participant reaction
- ☐ D) Requires no data collection

B21. Per the module, pre- and post-training tests are used to:

- ☐ A) Measure participants' knowledge and/or skills before and after training
- ☐ B) Replace the need for any other evaluation method
- ☐ C) Determine an employee's salary
- ☐ D) Assess an organization's overall profitability only

B22. Per the module, a well-written training evaluation report should include a summary of results, expected goals, effectiveness of the program, and:

- ☐ A) The trainer's personal opinion only
- ☐ B) Recommendations for improvement
- ☐ C) A list of unrelated company policies
- ☐ D) Nothing further

B23. Per the module, which factor should be considered when choosing training evaluation techniques?

- ☐ A) Type of training program (technical or behavioral)
- ☐ B) Available resources and time
- ☐ C) Actions to be taken based on results
- ☐ D) All of the above

B24. Per the module, the Phillips ROI Model is best described as:

- ☐ A) A purely qualitative model with no financial component
- ☐ B) A financial model that calculates the return on investment for training
- ☐ C) A model used only for classroom-based training
- ☐ D) A model with only two levels

Career Development Practices

B25. Per the module, career management responsibility typically falls on:

- ☐ A) The employee alone
- ☐ B) The company's management, especially HR officials
- ☐ C) External recruitment agencies
- ☐ D) No one; it is not managed

B26. Per the module, career planning responsibility lies with:

- ☐ A) The employee
- ☐ B) The company's board of directors
- ☐ C) The government
- ☐ D) External consultants only

B27. Per the module, which of the following is listed as a career development practice?

- ☐ A) Mentorship and mentoring programs
- ☐ B) Job rotation programs
- ☐ C) Encouraging self-evaluation
- ☐ D) All of the above

B28. Per the module, succession planning is best described as:

- ☐ A) A process for terminating underperforming employees
- ☐ B) The strategic process of identifying, developing, and preparing qualified individuals to fill important roles
- ☐ C) A method for calculating employee salaries
- ☐ D) A recruitment advertising technique

B29. Per the module, the first step in effective succession planning is to:

- ☐ A) Implement a transition plan
- ☐ B) Identify influential roles
- ☐ C) Provide preparation and development opportunities
- ☐ D) Evaluate current talent

B30. Per the module, a dual career ladder allows employees to be promoted:

- ☐ A) Only into administrative/leadership positions
- ☐ B) Without occupying an administrative position, based on practical experience or technical skill
- ☐ C) Only after 20 years of service
- ☐ D) Only if they change departments

B31. Per the module's example, Maha advanced her career by:

- ☐ A) Staying in customer service and becoming a supervisor
- ☐ B) Transferring to research and development and becoming an expert
- ☐ C) Leaving the company entirely
- ☐ D) Refusing all promotions

B32. Per the module, one benefit of dual career ladders is:

- ☐ A) Attracting and retaining top talent by offering diverse career paths
- ☐ B) Eliminating the need for performance evaluations
- ☐ C) Reducing employee compensation
- ☐ D) Removing all technical career paths

Performance Appraisal Methods and Performance Management Practices

B33. Per the module, the performance management process begins with:

- ☐ A) Performance Reward
- ☐ B) Goal Setting
- ☐ C) Performance Appraisal
- ☐ D) Performance Development

B34. Per the module's comparison table, performance appraisal (unlike performance management) is best described as:

- ☐ A) A continuous process
- ☐ B) A formal review of an employee's performance over a specified period
- ☐ C) Not related to organizational objectives
- ☐ D) Only used for entry-level employees

B35. Per the module, which of the following is listed as a challenge of the performance management process?

- ☐ A) Bias in evaluations
- ☐ B) Time constraints
- ☐ C) Employee resistance
- ☐ D) All of the above

B36. Per the module, the Management By Objectives (MBO) appraisal method involves:

- ☐ A) Ranking employees against each other with no goals involved
- ☐ B) Setting goals for employees and evaluating performance based on whether they achieve them
- ☐ C) Rating employees only on personality traits
- ☐ D) Eliminating all forms of feedback

B37. Per the module, the Behavioral Appraisal and Rating Scales (BARS) method evaluates employees based on:

- ☐ A) Random personality tests
- ☐ B) Specific behaviors linked to different levels of performance
- ☐ C) Seniority alone
- ☐ D) Customer complaints only

B38. Per the module, the halo effect occurs when:

- ☐ A) A single negative trait unfairly lowers an employee's overall rating
- ☐ B) A rating based on one particular trait positively influences the overall evaluation
- ☐ C) An evaluator rates every employee exactly the same
- ☐ D) An employee evaluates their own manager

B39. Per the module, recency error occurs when:

- ☐ A) Raters place excessive weight on events occurring closest to the appraisal, overshadowing overall performance
- ☐ B) Raters ignore the entire appraisal period
- ☐ C) Raters only consider the first few days of the period
- ☐ D) Raters have no access to any performance data

B40. Per the module, which of the following is a general principle for choosing a performance appraisal method?

- ☐ A) The method must be consistent with the organization's objectives
- ☐ B) The method must be appropriate for the type of work employees do
- ☐ C) The method must be fair and unbiased
- ☐ D) All of the above

Part III — True/False Exercises (C1–C40)

Mark whether each statement is True or False.

Overview of Development and Retention

C1. Per the module, Human Resource Development and employee retention are two main components of an organization's HR strategy.

☐ True ☐ False

C2. Per the module, HRD has no connection to employee retention rates.

☐ True ☐ False

C3. Per the module, the ADDIE model's five stages are analysis, design, development, implementation, and evaluation.

☐ True ☐ False

C4. Per the module, needs assessment involves identifying gaps in the skills required to perform a job.

☐ True ☐ False

C5. Per the module, promoting work-life balance is not considered part of creating a positive work environment for retention.

☐ True ☐ False

C6. Per the module, investing in training and development can help reduce employee turnover.

☐ True ☐ False

Applicable Laws and Regulations Related to Training and Development

C7. Per the module, training and development laws and regulations are identical across all countries.

☐ True ☐ False

C8. Per the module, training activities must not discriminate based on characteristics such as race, religion, or sex.

☐ True ☐ False

C9. Per the module, organizations may be eligible for tax incentives for providing training and development to employees.

☐ True ☐ False

C10. Per the module, accessibility standards for individuals with disabilities do not apply to training activities.

☐ True ☐ False

C11. Per the module, external training providers may offer specialized expertise not available in-house.

- ☐ True ☐ False

Training Delivery Format

C12. Per the module, classroom-based training allows for personal interaction between trainer and learners.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C13. Per the module, virtual training can be accessed from anywhere in the world at any time.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C14. Per the module, on-the-job training is described as never time-consuming.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C15. Per the module, blended learning combines two or more training delivery formats.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C16. Per the module, virtual training always provides the same level of in-person interaction as classroom training.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C17. Per the module, learner needs and available resources are factors to consider when choosing a training delivery format.

- ☐ True ☐ False

Techniques to Evaluate Training Programs

C18. Per the module, the Kirkpatrick Model includes a level called "Reaction."

- ☐ True ☐ False

C19. Per the module, the Phillips ROI Model has four levels, the same as the Kirkpatrick Model.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C20. Per the module, pre- and post-training tests measure participants' knowledge and/or skills before and after training.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C21. Per the module, training evaluation is not important for making decisions about training resources.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C22. Per the module, a participants' opinion poll is a quick and easy way to obtain feedback about a training program.

- ☐ True ☐ False

C23. Per the module, evaluation results should never be used to make changes to training programs.

☐ True ☐ False

C24. Per the module, the type of training program being evaluated is a factor to consider when choosing evaluation techniques.

☐ True ☐ False

Career Development Practices

C25. Per the module, career management is the responsibility of the employee, not the company.

☐ True ☐ False

C26. Per the module, career planning involves making decisions about education, training, and experience.

☐ True ☐ False

C27. Per the module, mentorship and mentoring programs are listed as a career development practice.

☐ True ☐ False

C28. Per the module, succession planning is only relevant to entry-level positions.

☐ True ☐ False

C29. Per the module, a dual career ladder provides a parallel, non-administrative career path based on practical experience or technical skill.

☐ True ☐ False

C30. Per the module, in the Ahmed and Maha example, both colleagues were forced to choose the same career path.

☐ True ☐ False

C31. Per the module, dual career ladders can help attract and retain top talent.

☐ True ☐ False

C32. Per the module, designing an effective dual career ladder includes ensuring equal pay and benefits for both technical and leadership roles.

☐ True ☐ False

Performance Appraisal Methods and Performance Management Practices

C33. Per the module, performance management is described as a continuous process.

☐ True ☐ False

C34. Per the module, performance appraisal is described as a continuous, ongoing process with no defined period.

☐ True ☐ False

C35. Per the module, bias is listed as a possible challenge in the performance management process.

☐ True ☐ False

C36. Per the module, the ranking method compares employees' performance against each other.

☐ True ☐ False

C37. Per the module, the halo effect results in an unfairly low rating for an employee.

☐ True ☐ False

C38. Per the module, recency error occurs when raters place too much weight on early-period behaviors and ignore recent performance.

☐ True ☐ False

C39. Per the module, the Management by Objectives (MBO) method can help align employee goals with organizational goals.

☐ True ☐ False

C40. Per the module, fairness and lack of bias are described as general principles for choosing a performance appraisal method.

☐ True ☐ False
